1. I could not, at any age, be content to take my place in a corner by the fireside and simply look on. Life was meant to be lived. Curiosity must be kept alive. (Eleanor Roosevelt)

2. The measure of a man's success in life is not the money he's made. It's the kind of family he has raised. In that I've been mighty lucky. (Joseph P. Kennedy)

3. No man is wholly free. He is a slave to wealth, or to fortune, or the laws, or the people restrain him from acting according to his will alone. (Euripides)

4. No artist wants to be "understood." If he's "understood," he feels superficial. What an artist wants is not to be misunderstood. (Ned Rorem)

5. My grandmother wanted me to have an education, so she kept me out of school. (Margaret Mead)

6. A little inaccuracy sometimes saves tons on explanations. (H.H. Munro)
